

Doubtless if Mr. Villard has his way about it the new administration will be laid out on a strict Northern Pacific basis.

The great work of turning the rascals in will begin on the 5th of next March. Good Democrats will go early and avoid the rush.

It is probable that Mr. Cleveland will not decide one way or the other on the extra session question until he finds out what young Mr. Quincy thinks about it.

Governor Flower has been doing a little repairing on the State Civil Service Commission. The structure has received a substantial outfit of Democratic Weather boarding.

It is really too bad for the Democratic brethren that there is only one Senatorship to be disposed of in New York. What is one Senatorship among fifteen or twenty anxious and determined candidates?

Since the year 1870, when Tweed was in the zenith of his reign of power and plunder, Tammany Hall has possessed and exercised no such absolutism in New York City affairs as it possesses and exercises to-day.

After looking the ground over carefully we are persuaded that when Mr. Cleveland comes to make up his Cabinet ex-Governor Gray of Indiana will stand a fine chance of being appointed Secretary of the Exterior.

So far only about eighty-five eligible statesmen have appeared as candidates for places in the new Cabinet. The smallness of the number shows clearly enough that the returns from the back districts haven't begun to come in yet.

There will be a grand reunion in Washington on the 4th of March of men who held office during Cleveland's administration. A full turnout is expected, and those who desire to attend should go early and avoid the rush.

We congratulate Miss Ella Knowles, the new Attorney General of Montana, or rather, we congratulate Montana, and we wish the young stateswoman a brilliant career. We are sure the office has sought the woman, and that the men will seek the office.

The Tariff tinker and the calamity howler are hardly recognizable. They no longer shriek fierce denunciations of the McKinley law, but devote themselves to begging the Democrats to "let well enough alone." The Tariff tinker and calamity howler have evidently seen a great light.

There is only one class of people who will believe the published statement that Mr. Cleveland made no pledges to Tammany Hall during the recent campaign as the price of the support of that organization. The set of men who may be persuaded to believe that interesting romance are commonly known as "the marines."

If genial Don Dickinson really seeks a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States it might be well for him to declare before hand just what he thinks of the Democratic proposition that Protection is unconstitutional. And while he is about it he might just as well file his opinion on the constitutionality of the Constitution itself.

Many of the Free-trade organs, which all through the campaign shouted "Repeal the McKinley law," are now begging the victorious Democracy for goodness' sake to "go slow" and to "let good enough alone." It will require a judicial investigation to determine whether these zealous Free-trade howlers were hypocrites during the campaign or whether they are merely cowards now.

A NIGHTMARE.

I sometimes wonder what the folks who pose as being wise would think if all the universe should set the self-same way; If up the East at 10 o'clock The grumbling sun should crawl, And like a drowsy rounder for A morning brazer o'ill.

If stars that had been out all night Next day with heads were cursed, And in Oblivion lay pools Should long to be immersed; And if Aurora ere she rose Put rouge upon her cheeks— In short, if matters infinite Affected finite freaks.

A glorious time 'twould be for bards Who write for magazines, For then the woes that they depict Would be familiar scenes; But for all healthy common folks 'Twould be a dreadful case: A fin-de-siecle universe Would be a dreary place.

The Quickest Way to Cure a Cold.

Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. The first symptoms of a cold is a dry, loud coughing and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in many cases will effectually counteract it and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced. Nicholas County Voters.

One good Nicholas county Republican got so excited when he saw the Democratic rooster on his ballot, says The Carlisle Mercury, that he took up the little rubber stamp and struck him in the face. He wanted to go back after he had found out what he had done, but he could not—he had cast his first Democratic vote. Another voter wanted to "kill" the Democratic candidate for Constable in the Carlisle Precinct, so he took great delight in "scratching" him by putting a cross-mark opposite the candidates name and deposited his ballot. When he found out what he had done he bumped his head against the wall. A candidate for Constable outside of Carlisle wrote his name at the bottom of his ballot so everybody might know how he voted. He lost his own support. One of the largest farmers in the county indignantly refused the proffered instructions of the election officers, stamped the cross on the back of his ballot and saw the same put in the waste basket without a murmur.

The Comet.

The big comet reported to be heading toward the earth at the rate of several thousand miles a minute, comes in at the close of the Presidential campaign to meet the demand in the public mind for an exciting subject for discussion. It was discovered through a powerful glass on the 6th inst. by a German astronomer, and so rapid is its approach that it will be visible by the naked eye, and before long become the most conspicuous object in the nocturnal heavens. Indeed, it is said that in less than two weeks the wanderer will appear larger than the face of the full moon. One astronomer gives November 28th as the date of the nearest approach to the earth—not nearer than some million miles, if anything approximating moderate astronomical distances is realized.

The erratic celestial courier is coming full head on, and, therefore, its tail is hidden. When the queer fellow changes his course, and he is expected and surely desired to do so, he may not give us a whisk with that tail, but will make it visible, and give the wearer more the appearance of a genuine comet. One astronomer declares that the comet will hit the earth with its tail. We are not prepared to say how credible this declaration may be. It may be mere guess work. But it seems to be well established that a stroke from a thin, nebulous comet's tail is not likely to prove of serious consequence to the earth and its inhabitants.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Bits of News That Will Interest "Ledger" Readers.

Huntington Herald.—The Adams Express Company is handling on its C. and O. route from 5,000 to 20,000 pounds of turkeys every day. Thursday night 35,000 pounds were transferred from the M. V. route to the C. and O. at the Union Depot. They are going mostly to Boston.

Ashland News.—As usual, after an election, the fool killer is having a great deal more work than he can properly attend to. In many parts of the country wheelbarrow pushers and raw egg eaters are operating with an impunity that to sane people is disgusting, to say the least.

Owingsville Outlook, Dem.—The election is over now, and the first Democratic duty is to take that plank of the platform recommending the repeal of the tax on state bank issues out, whittle a good handhold on it and raise blisters with it on the man responsible for its insertion as big as saddleskirts. For pure, inspired political idiocy, its insertion is without parallel.

Lawrence Republican.—It strikes us that you are rather late making the discovery. Brother Estill, you should have showed up its iniquities before the people voted for it. We are of the opinion, however, that you need have no fear of the Democrats carrying out that plank, or any other.

A Reliable Man.

M. J. Griner, a Justice of the Peace at Print, Mich., says one bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life. He had been down with bloody flux for three weeks when he commenced using this medicine. It soon cured him, and he believes saved his life. He also says it saved the lives of three railroad men in that vicinity. "Squire Griner is a reliable and conscientious man, and whatever he says can be depended upon. Story of the War.

General Longstreet said in conversation in Atlanta a few days ago, according to "The Constitution," that Jefferson Davis seemed to like a general the more for being whipped. After Albert Sidney Johnston had been compelled to yield up two states, Kentucky and Tennessee, and fall back into Alabama, the Confederate President wrote him a letter of approval. Soon after this, at some gathering in Richmond, General Longstreet recalled the familiar story of the physician who let mother and child die on his hands, but saved the father's life, to illustrate Johnston's achievements. President Davis overheard him, bit his lips and never afterward was the same to Longstreet.

MINERS KILLED.

Powder Explodes in the La Blanche Coal Mines.

Six Killed Instantly and a Number Seriously Injured.

The Explosion Was Caused by a Blast Which Ignited a Keg of Powder That Had Been Left Uncovered—Explosion Felt for Miles Around.

STUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 22.—Twenty-five kegs of powder exploded in the La Blanche coal mines at Colders Station at noon Monday, killing six men outright and terribly wounding twelve others. The killed are Michael Koler, of Steubenville; Frank Alexander, of Midway, Pa.; Henry Williams, of Burgettstown; Charles Skilton, of McDonald, Pa.; J. Gordon, of Colders, and a colored man whose name could not be learned. The wounded are Hungarians and colored men, who are unknown. Lawrence Campbell was blown a distance of 100 feet, and had his skull crushed so badly that he will die. Ed Cook, colored, was blown twenty-five feet off a trestle, sustaining a broken thigh and fractured skull. William Hall had one arm blown off and sustained fatal injuries. Harry Smith was also fatally wounded by being blown against the walls of the mine. The LaBlanche mines are now in construction, and are owned by New Cumberland and Pittsburgh parties. The explosion was occasioned by a blast which ignited a keg of powder that had been left uncovered. This set fire to the wood work in the mine, and before it could be extinguished the flames reached a large quantity of powder that had been stored away in an empty chamber in the mine. Doctors from Steubenville were telegraphed for and rendered all assistance possible, but a number of the injured are beyond medical aid and will die. The explosion was felt for miles.

MESSINGER BAGLEY

Says That His Mind Was a Perfect Blank, and That He Had No Idea of Stealing the Money.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—George J. Bagley, lately in possession of bags of money and now possessed by the Chicago police, was complacent Monday, if not hilarious. He was tenanted a small, square cell at the Harrison-street station instead of running around loose with $100,000 consigned to the care of the United States Express Co.

Bagley had just inclosed within a dinner his grateful employers had provided because he hadn't eaten up all their money, and was topping off with a large cigar.

He could not be induced to say very much about his troubles, having been instructed by the officials of the express company not to talk. He is relying upon their promise to deal leniently with him.

Bagley claims his mind was a perfect blank for half an hour before his arrival at Davenport. He says he had no notion where he would hide the money when he placed the gunny sack containing it upon his back, and that at no time did he believe he could get away with it or avoid arrest.

His first idea was to take the sack and hide it in a sewer now building in Davenport. In some places this is twenty-one feet deep. He then had doubts whether to tell the contractor of his intention. Finally he placed the bags in the barn where they were found.

According to his story Bagley was much frightened when he and Manager Shepard approached the barn for fear some stranger had found the money.

It is said to be the intention of the express company to take Bagley back to Iowa for trial.

Denver Looking Ahead.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 22.—Enterprising citizens of Denver are figuring on holding a World's fair in Denver in 1903. They say it will be 100 years since the consummation of the Louisiana purchase, which gave America territory to constitute fifteen new states. Denver is the republic of the centennial state and in ten years will be a great city and be able to care for the exposition.

Killed the Whole Family.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 22.—Wm. R. Binder, bookkeeper for the Leidersdorf Tobacco Co., Monday morning shot and killed his wife, his seven-year-old daughter and himself. The affair occurred at the home of the family, 876 Cambridge avenue. The family had always lived peacefully and no cause is known for the tragedy.

Her Fortune Gone.

BUCHANAN, Nov. 22.—The court at Galatz has commended Princess Gregory Gortschakoff to transfer to her brother, Prince Gregory Stourdza, the sum of $5,000,000 and residences held by her in Paris and Baden Baden under the disputed will of her father, the late governor of Moldavia. The judgment financially ruins the princess.

An Undertaker Arrested.

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 22.—J. H. Sharer, a leading undertaker of this city, and secretary of the International Funeral Directors' association, was arrested Monday at the instigation of the local board of health, charged with violating a state law, which prohibits the exposing of remains of persons dying with contagious diseases.

Could Not See Her Children Starve.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—From Mulhausen, in Alsace, comes a story of murder by a Mrs. Kern of her four children. They were starving, it is stated, and taking them to a cemetery in a wheelbarrow, she cut each of the four childlike throats with a knife.
